Happy Friday! 😊

What a miserable and wet Friday it is!
Hopefully the weather brightens and we can all enjoy the outdoors this weekend.

This week in maths, we have started our unit on fractions. Children have been identifying the whole and looking at fractions as part of the whole.

We have finished reading 'The Matchbox Diary' and today children will be sharing their 3 personal objects with their friends, reflecting on why these spark special memories for them.

In RE, the children have continued learning how Humanists celebrate important events in life and how they embrace the natural world around them.

The children are very excited about our science/DT topic this term - making a battery-operated light! They have been asked to resource materials for their design.
These won't be needed for a couple of weeks, but they are already starting to think about what they might need eg. Plastic bottle, cardboard, decorations etc.

We're really enjoying our yoga sessions in PE this term. It's a great opportunity for us to slow down and reflect on how we are feeling in the moment.

We explored time zones in Geography this week and reflected on how it might feel to live in the USA, where there are 4 different time zones across the contiguous states - 6, if you include Hawaii and Alaska!
