YEAR 5 LEARNING LETTER 1/3/24

We have again focused on description – using noun phrases to specifically describe characters. We have used adverbs and superlatives to add detail. We have used description to try and be persuasive. Trying to sell a Fairy Tale castle.

Following our investigations, in this at video clips to help us identify and then

We started a new topic about databases. We discussed what they are and how they may be used. We created a paper version of a card (flat-file) database on a theme. We then ordered, sorted and grouped our data to answer questions about the data-set. We considered the time it had taken and why errors may have animals we are now focusing on humans. We started by analysing the changes that take place in the human life-cycle.

Looking Forward

Amy could explain a meaning of the phrase ' the sun never sets on the British Empire'

Kian quickly used an Atlas to identify some countries that were in the British Empire

Next Week -

The Book Fair is at school and WORLD BOOK DAY on Friday.

We will be finishing our unit on decimals by learning about percentages, fractions and decimals. We will be looking further into online relationships and compute databases. In addition we will be investigating gestation periods in science and finding out why Britain built an empire.
