This week in Beech Class...

English

We have had a very busy week in English. We have used a couple of sessions to complete our own stories based on The Incredible Book Eating Boy. The children had to think of another unusual thing to eat, and write about what the consequences of that strange diet might be. We have squeezed in a little SPaG, learning about prepositions. We have also started practising for our class assembly, on which—more later...

Maths

In maths, we have been looking at money. We have learned to add and subtract money as well as give change. In these days of contactless payment, I have found that some of our children struggle to identify our coins and notes, so reinforcing these at home might be a good idea.

DT

Our DT lessons have been about shell structures. The children have been learning about packaging and this week, they have been learning to make boxes from nets, using the key skills of neat folding and cutting.
