Happy Friday!

In maths this week, children have been revisiting Roman numerals, as well as learning how to round to the nearest 10, 100 and 1000.

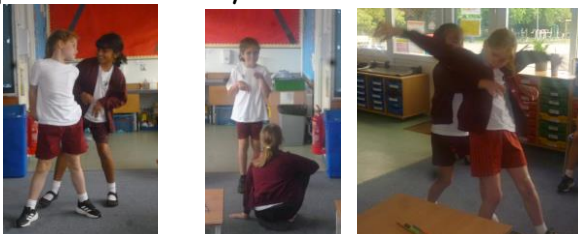

In English, we have looked at the rules around how speech is punctuated and considered how repetition can be used to great effect in our writing.

The children carried out an experiment in science to observe how materials change state when heated or cooled. We melted chocolate using different temperatures of water, recording how long this took.

In Art this week, children explored the many techniques used in painting, such as stippling and dabbing - to help create texture and make an object appear 3D on the page. They also used several tools to help with this, such as cotton buds and sponges.

We learnt about the burial site of Sutton Hoo in history this week - discussing and evaluating the archaeological finds to help us understand more about how the Anglo-Saxons lived.

As part of our trip to the ballet, the children have been learning the story of Alice in Wonderland and tried their hand at putting together some motifs (actions) to represent parts of the story this week.

Apologies for not sending the children's seesaw log-ins home last Friday. They brought these home on Monday. Please let me know if you have any problems logging in from home.
