Highlights of the Week

We completed our first batch of practice SATs tests this week and the children handled it brilliantly. These tests are important for us to establish where the children are at, what they have mastered and what they still need a little bit of work on. Over the coming weeks I will then be picking up key aspects that need specific work with groups of pupils as well as continuing to stretch and boost those who gained higher marks.

Whatever they thought of the tests, everyone should be very proud of the fact that they all managed to sit in silence for a full 50 minutes by the end of the week, even if they had finished!

On Thursday we completed our Science Powerpoint presentations. Not only did we learn how to add animations to slides and transitions between slides but also how to make a presentation interesting for an audience. We also learnt a great deal about how nutritious different food groups are, specific vitamins and minerals, saturated and non-saturated fats and exactly why exercise is important.

On Tuesday we continued our preparation for The Globe Theatre by looking at language. After a whistle-stop tour of the development of the English Language, we focused in on Shakespearean words and phrases. We then used paint and ink pens to try writing some in an Elizabethan style. I'm very sorry for any ink stained fingers but we did have a lot of fun!
