Happy Friday!

We have started our unit on length and perimeter in maths this week. Children were reminded of the units of measurement (mm/cm/m/km) and learnt how we calculate perimeters of rectangles and shapes on a grid.

In English this week, children have learnt the features of a play script and will be using these when writing their own 3 scene play inspired by Tar Beach. We had a go at role-playing conversations between characters ahead of writing our dialogue next week.

We created our own piece of scratch art in art this week, inspired by our collages from last week. Using wooden skewers, children explored how they can create depth and tone to their work using hatching and creating patterns. We saw some fantastic results, I was really impressed with the children's work!

Science saw us working in groups and building electrical circuits. We experimented to learn which common materials make good conductors and insulators. We also problem-solved to understand what had gone wrong in a circuit and how we could fix it.

In computing, we used procedures to make patterns and designs - making predictions ahead of creating our design.

Wishing you all a lovely weekend!

Miss Hale
