Happy Friday!

What a fabulous celebration we've enjoyed for World Book Day! The children all looked especially cosy in their PJ's and it's been wonderful seeing them share their favourite books with each other. We also welcomed lots of visitors to the book fair. If you haven't already used it with us, don't forget to use your voucher at participating high street shops, in exchange for one of the special World Book Day £1 books, or as a £1 off voucher towards a book of a higher value.

This week, children brought in objects which served as mementos of happy times - things which spark a memory - just like in our book The Matchbox Diary. It was wonderful to hear the children share their happy memories with each other. This inspired them to write about their object and memory in their English work.

In maths, we have been learning about improper fractions and converting mixed numbers to improper fractions and vice versa.

In geography, The Magic Kingdom aka Disneyland is our inspiration as we learn about Florida. We considered if The Magic Kingdom is in the past as part of our understanding around times zones. We even planned a route around Disneyland to explore why it was such a popular attraction!

In PSHE, we are learning about the physical changes that happen during puberty. This week, we learnt the importance of personal hygiene.

Wishing you all a peaceful weekend,
Miss Hale
