Continuing the Learning Journey!

We have lots of wonderful things planned for over the Christmas period. Today we will be putting up the Christmas tree and class decorations, we have an advent calendar, a Christmas countdown blackboard and a nativity scene. We have read the nativity story already and the children were keen to hear about the parts they are playing in our show!

This week's learning:

- In maths the children have been hunting for triangles and circles in and around the class.
- I have seen some wonderful, child initiated writing this week. The children are putting sounds together to write words that they hear in words.
- Some children have moved onto books with a few words. Please try to read as often as possible (ideally every night). It really helps to embed the learning we are doing at school.

Next Week...

In Art we will be painting to music.
