

YEAR 6 LEARNING NEWS

Highlights of the Week

Happy New Year to you all!

Although there seemed to be more yawning as we head to the end of the week, I'm really pleased to say that on the whole we have had a brilliant first week back with all the pupils showing positivity, enthusiasm and determination in their learning.

We have started our new class text - Wonder by RJ Palacio - and have completed leaflets explaining the genetic disorder, Treacher Collins Syndrome, which affects the main character Auggie.

In Maths we have learnt about Ratio and have been surprisingly reassured by how straight forward it is! Next week we will look more at how ratios are used in scale drawings and recipes.

Our Science topic for this half term is Electricity and everyone is very excited at the thought of getting to 'play' with the circuit making equipment. This week however, we learnt that there is still a lot we don't know, including how there were a lot of experiments and discoveries that slowly led to the AC electricity we use in our homes today. We also briefly discussed what life would be like without electricity and some children were amazed that life had been possible before it!

Today your child should be bringing home a selection of 2022 SAT papers that they completed in school before Christmas. You will probably see various pen colours within these as we have now been through them and they have had the chance to correct answers. We will be continuing to work on exam technique and how to apply our knowledge in class, as well as in small groups over the coming months, but we felt it would also be good for you to see where your child is currently at. We will be completing another set of tests before Parents Evening and I shall look forward to discussing your child's progress at that point. If there is anything you feel needs to be discussed now then please do get in touch.
