Continuing the learning journey...

I hope you all had a restful half-term break. With just five weeks until the Easter holidays, we have lots of exciting learning and activities to enjoy in a short space of time!

This week's learning...

- In maths, the children have been exploring measurement by comparing lengths and using words such as tall, short and the same to describe what they observe.
- In Little Wandle the children read compound words and they wrote a simple, dictated sentence.
- In PSHE the children practised their listening skills, we played 'Simple Simon' and 'Noisy Neighbour' games.

World Book Week - Throughout next week, we'll be diving into lots of lovely book-related activities! We'll be reading together, listening to stories, enjoying our favourite book-themed tasks and we'd love to invite parents to come in and read a favourite children's book to the class as well. If you'd like to join us, please let me know and share a time that works best for you. 😊

Wednesday 4th March - Chestnut Class 'family learning' session (2-3pm).
