Happy Friday!

It was so lovely to see so many of you this morning, enjoying a taster of life in Y4 with your children! I know the children enjoyed sharing their learning with you.

We've also enjoyed World Book Week here at Ongar - dropping everything to read when the bell rang and joining live World Book Day lessons across the week, based on popular books such as Tom Gates. Special guests came to read to the children in their class - plenty keeping us immersed in books!

We took advantage of the lovely weather again this week, to enjoy our yoga lesson outside in the paddock area. This week, children revisited the 'I am' flow, adding a new pose with their own positive affirmation.

In maths, we have now started our new unit on fractions. Children have been reminded about the role of the denominator and the numerator when discussing the whole.

In English this week, children have been using noun phrases to describe emotions and using conjunctions to write multi-clause sentences. They also shared their objects and wrote about why these are so special to them.

Children shaded their own choropleth map in geography this week, to show the country of origin of tourists visiting The Magic Kingdom in Florida. We then considered this data and reflected on standards of living around the world, learning that different nations experience different qualities of life.

Wishing you all a lovely weekend,
Miss Hale
