Highlights of the Week

SATs practice and Games

It's been a week of 2 halves - assessments and gaming! I am pleased to report that (as usual) the children have all approached the tests in a mature and sensible way and I am also pleased to say that I have seen improvements in the marks of the ones I have marked to-date compared to the last batch.

Most of the rest of the time has then been spent focusing on making our own games - most of which include an electrical circuit as a final element to last half term's science topic. The variety of ideas and the teamwork demonstrated has been brilliant!
