

Highlights of the Week

English

This week, as well as continuing with lots of grammar revision, we have looked at lots of different poems. Most of these have focused on different festivals that happen around the world which has led to lots of questions as well as explanations about vocabulary and poetic features.

Maths

Again, whilst continuing to revise, we have had more of a focus on co-ordinates this week. The pupils hopefully now know how to read and plot co-ordinates in all 4 quadrants as well as how to translate and/or reflect points/shapes.

Geography

On Wednesday, everyone had the chance to pick a country to research. This was essentially a chance to research somewhere of interest to them, but also a chance to demonstrate their understanding of terms such as physical / human geography, climate and so on. It was wonderful to see such a broad range of countries being chosen and next week they will get the chance to share their findings with one-another.

Absolute Highlight of the Week

Sponsored Run

They were AMAZING! Whether running, walking, supporting younger children or were out to prove themselves, they all made me very proud. Even better, as you can see from the picture below, they were still smiling afterwards!

If you haven't sponsored your child yet, please do use the link on last week's Headlines or bring cash into the Office.
