Week 5 Autumn 2

Our Learning Journey

In English, we are still reading The Gingerbread Man and we have introduced the term "adjectives". Children have written perfect sentences to describe the gingerbread man. The naughty Gingerbread Man then ran away on Thursday morning before we could eat him! There was so much excitement on the hunt around the school - was like trying to control a litter of puppies but they loved looking for the letters he had left us. We then designed some MISSING posters to display around school.

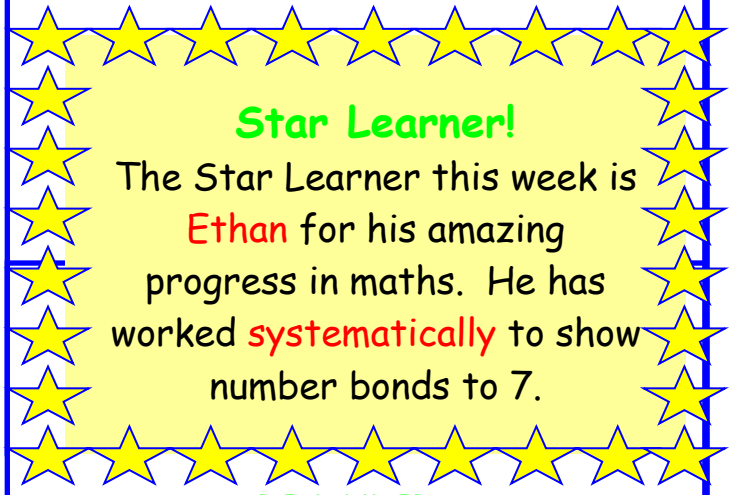

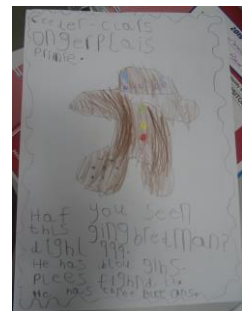

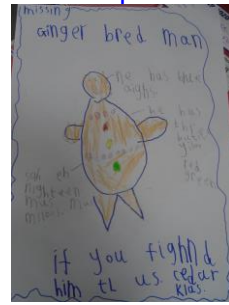

In handwriting, we are looking at the "tall family" of letters and practising them as often as possible. They include b, h, t, d, k and l. We are encouraging good, sensible sitting at tables with bottoms on chairs, all four feet of the chair on the ground and tummy touching the table.

In maths, we continue to practise writing simple number sentences and we have been looking at the bar model to help us write these correctly. We have been using a lot of vocabulary like: part / whole / total / altogether / add / plus / same as / equals.

Focus on Learning

Our phonics over the coming weeks will focus on consolidating what we already know. Children will continue practising their segmenting and blending skills and writing digraphs and trigraphs correctly.

Our handwriting practise will continue as often as possible as this complements their phonic sounds nicely and sets a good example of what is expected in terms of presentation and letter formation.

Star Learner!

The Star Learner this week is Ethan for his amazing progress in maths. He has worked systematically to show number bonds to 7.
